Start Date: 6/5/2023 (may be flexible)

Estimated End Date: 12/3/2023 (or 26 weeks after start date)

a 26-week minimum commitment is required **

Location Details/Description: Bandelier National Monument protects over 33,000 acres of rugged but beautiful canyon and mesa country as well as evidence of a human presence here going back over 11,000 years. Petroglyphs, dwellings carved into the soft rock cliffs, and standing masonry walls pay tribute to the early days of a culture that still survives in the surrounding communities.

Bandelier National Monument and its surrounding region holds intact, one of the largest densities of culturally significant resources to those of Modern Day Pueblos. Most notably San Ildefonso and Cochiti Pueblos whose proximity and use of this region closely connects them to this ancestral home. The Valles Caldera National Preserve (VCNP) and Manhattan Project Museum which are located within 30 minute drives from Bandelier National Monument also provide for unique perspectives.

Cellular service in Frijoles Canyon is via Verizon LTE only. Other carriers may work in other areas of the monument, but no service is guaranteed.

Position Overview: TTAP members will work on a variety of different projects over the course of the term, including but not limited to, masonry, carpentry, graffiti mitigation, stabilization of archeological sites and historic structures, including an ancient 400-room pueblo. Members may also work on more recent historic structures, including many front-country buildings built by the Civilian Conservation Corps in the 1930s. Participants will work alongside National Park Service Staff who are experts in various fields. Participants will also be a part of a full cultural immersion touching specifically on the interest of the selected participant. This program also includes visits to museums and other institutions that reflect the culture and history of the region and hold various world renowned collections relevant to Bandelier National Monument and the surrounding region.

This individual placement is meant to facilitate professional development and promotes exposure to land management agencies and networking with professionals. This could include gaining experience in different conservation fields and shadowing different work groups.

Schedule: Monday-Friday 8:00am-4:30pm (may be subject to change)
